

MICHAELSON LAW

YOUR LEGACY, YOUR CHOICE

BY LAURA LONG

“If you do not have a Will or plan for your estate, then the government has one for you.” – Shez Christopher

It's true – if you don't have an estate plan or a will, the U.S. Government will determine your heirs and distribute your trust assets when you die. Estate planning is one of the most thoughtful and considerate things you can do for your loved ones. No matter what your stage of life, the time to create an estate plan is now. Making a plan before circumstances occur gives you time to explore all your options and make calm, rational choices.

Knowing you have a plan in place with clear instructions and a will to protect your family will give you and your family peace of mind. This month, Diazo highlights Michaelson Law, one of our business and estate law specialists.

BUILDING | PROTECTING | SUSTAINING

Michaelson Law is Nevada's premier firm for business & estate law. For over 30 years, the firm has served thousands of clients and maintained its legacy of customer service, communication, and trustworthiness.

The firm was founded in 1992 by attorney Paul R. Michaelson, with an emphasis on high-end business and estate transactions in Nevada. In 2013, Paul's eldest son, John, became the owner and CEO of Michaelson Law.

Michaelson Law's forte is the ability to bring a personal touch and simplicity to otherwise very sophisticated transactions. The atmosphere at Michaelson Law attracts top-flight attorneys and paralegals, who in turn provide second-to-none service and communication to their clients.

Today, the firm has expanded its practice into many other areas of the law, including business law, civil litigation, guardianship, probate, elder law, asset protection, and estate planning.
